

Contents of NISE bulletin

Vol. 1 (March 1981)

- Effects of tactile reading training of the Japanese language with the Optacon (Kyoji Koyanagi, Hiroshi Shimura, Hiroshi Yamagata 1-9)
- The development of schools for special education in Japan (Yoshiro Egami 10-16)
- Follow-up study of infantile autism (Shusuke Tamai, Takeshi Shoji 17-20)
- A study of predictive tests of articulation development (Taiko Nagasawa, Haruo Matsumoto 21-28)
- An experimental study on the application of a mini-computer system for the communication training of mentally retarded deaf children (Chiharu Mizuno 29-35)
- Language training using Kanji for autistic children (Yoshikuni Tojo 36-42)
- The follow-up study of the hearing test for high risk registered infants (Hiroichi Sugawara, Nobuo Takahashi, Toshihiro Agatsuma, Hideo Imai 43-49)
- Effects of relaxation training at three-dimensional position for cerebral palsied children (Hiromitsu Yasuyoshi, Shigeru Murata 50-57)
- Effects of stimulus presentation method on visuo-audio simultaneous discrimination learning in a non-verbal, severely mentally retarded child (Tsugumichi Fujita, Noboru Ohtomo, Ryuso Matsubara 58-63)
- Studies on the educational treatment of hemophilic children (Hiroshi Nagamine, Kazumi Yabuki 64-70)
- A study on the primitive behaviors of severely and profoundly multiply handicapped children (Hiroyuki Takasugi 71-77)